'53 carillon

TO the friends of Concordia — whose generous support has made possible the rapid growth of Concordia; who have entrusted their sons to the Concordia family; whose faith in Concordians has helped our spiritual development — the “’53 Carillon” is thankfully dedicated.

"Koinonia", or "fellowship", is the moving spirit on Concordia's campus. The club that bears this name was organized to foster and provide the impetus for the furthering of the Concordia spirit, the fellowship of brothers in Christ. Koinonia provides the students with a program of religious activities, including student-led devotions and featured speakers on topics related to the work of the church.

C A R I L L O N   S T A F F

The Carillon, the official school newspaper, is published by and for the students of Concordia. Its purpose is to better acquaint the students with one another and to give the students news on the affairs of the school and their student body. It is one of the mediums through which the students may express their opinions on school matters. Acting under a faculty advisor it operates as an integral part of the Student Council and student body.

The Student Council is composed of members from every class and is the governing body of the students. It acts as mediator between the students and the faculty and as a voice of student expression and control. Notable achievements during the year were the writing of a new Constitution and a Student Code.

ANNUAL STAFF

The Annual Staff interests itself primarily with the publication of the school year book. The '53 Carillon was known previously as the Blue and White. This is only one of the many changes in this year's annual. The staff has striven to give the students of Concordia a bigger and better annual, something to be proud of. We hope you like it.

The Chorus, probably the most active campus organization (13 concerts in two months), completed its major work of the year in two sacred concerts performed in the Chapel. In numerous appearances the hard-working singers (rehearsal each day) were molded by the skill of Walter Keller into a group which received and deserved the plaudits of Northwest music-lovers.

ACADEMY PLAYERS

The widespread popularity of the Players' productions with the Portland public was again evident in this year's presentation of "Music and Words", the Christmas pageant (over 600 in attendance), and Theatre in the Round. Accomplishments this year: acquisition of a public address system and establishment of an annual award for drama-speech excellence.

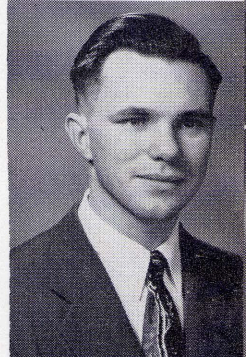

The purpose of the Science Club is to make possible a fuller development in science for those interested. Through the Science Club students preparing for a life of service to God may better understand the wonderful mysteries of God's magnificent creation. For the past two years the club has been constructing a six-inch reflecting telescope through which it will be possible to view the rings of Saturn and the craters of the moon.

CRAFTSMENS CLUB

The Craftsmen's Club is organized to provide equipment and opportunities to those students who are interested in woodworking. As a project this year the club refinished the tops of many of the older desks. They also helped in the preparation of the stage equipment for the plays and performances.

"C" CLUB

The International Relations Club is one of the newest organizations that Concordia has integrated into its extra-curricular program. It is a unique organization in that it includes only members of the college classes on its roster. The club's purpose is to acquaint its members with current events. The organization has done a great deal for the political life of the school in that it sponsored political rallies both at the time of the national presidential election and at the time of the student body elections.

The C Club is made up of high school lettermen. Only those earning a major award in some sport are allowed to join. Their chief project is the annual football homecoming banquet. The new basketball jerseys and football helmets were paid for by the C Club. Every year the Club presents a trophy to the high school senior who has done most for high school athletics. At the end of the year the members have an outing at a nearby lake.

FOOTBALL

The 1952 Bluejays were a small team in a tough league, a team that had good material, but material that didn't go deep enough. In the newly-formed Mid-Columbia league, they finished fourth, beating Hood River and losing to the others—Lake Oswego, Columbia Prep, and I W. East. In non-league play they lost to Scappoose, Toledo, Salem Bible, and tied Cascade. They played good ball, didn't have the size and depth of the big ones, but gave them many a scare and gave fans many a thrill.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

This was their second year in the Metropolitan League, and for the second time they ended in second place. They might have won except for the breaks.

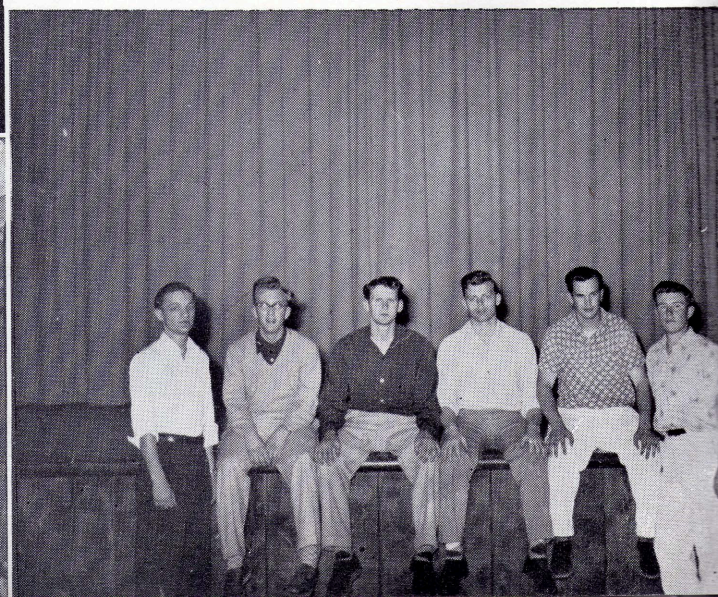

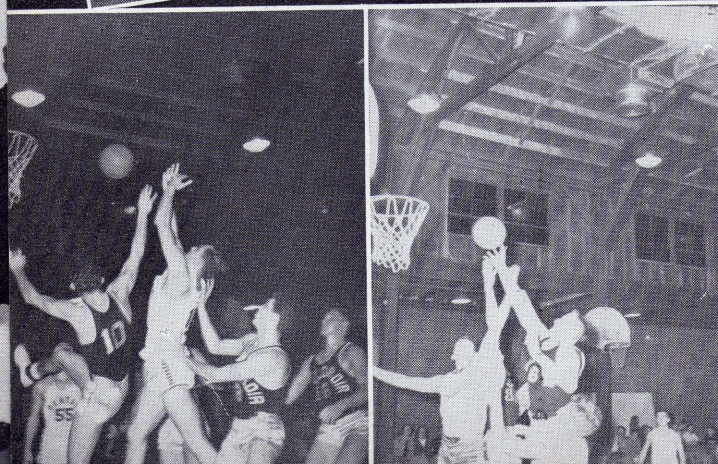

It was the same Concordia story . . . wonderful first string, no depth at all. Their style of play was exciting, they set a new scoring record they played ball the way it was made to be played.

They were a good team, and it was tough finishing second, but you just don't get the rough breaks they did and still be tops.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL

They were the champions! They made their first season in the Mid-Columbia League a successful one, winning five, losing three, to gain a tie with Columbia Prep for the title. They were led by big "Spike" Ehlers who led the league in scoring.

They conquered their league opponents and then came the District Tournament. They fought against the big ones and came close, but four points wasn't enough and they lost to the big boys.

They were a small team but they fought to win—and did.

It was a good year — a good team.

BASEBALL

At this writing, with the season not yet complete, the story of both the college and high school nine can be told in four words — strong pitching, weak hitting.

The Cavaliers, with Hennig and Baumann slinging on the mound, have played good ball in the field, but don't have the hitting, and are boasting just a mediocre record, while the Jays, having in Brandt one of the state's top hurlers and nothing else, are resting at the bottom of their league.

But regardless of records, both teams are playing hard and everyone is behind them.

JOHN RUSKIN:

"The metal you are in search of being in the author's mind or meaning, his words are as the rock which you have to crush and smelt in order to get at it."

Those are wise words. If we remember that nothing in life that is truly worthwhile comes to any of us without great effort, we shall always shy away from the "easy" path to success.

True gain in knowledge, information, understanding comes through patient, sustained labor.

If we want the gold out of life, we must dig deep for it, for example, in good books. These are your working tools as students. These tools, will become more precious to you the more deeply and carefully you search for the hidden ore of golden thoughts in them.

CONCORDIA—your official publishing house—stocks thousands of good books—its own as well as the best books from the nation's religious presses.

Why not state your reading interests on a postcard or in a letter and mail it to CONCORDIA within the near future? We'll be glad to suggest a number of fine titles for your personal library.

Financial Success—A COLLEGE STUDENT'S GOAL

A college student's goal after graduation is to achieve a reasonable measure of financial success. He knows that many good things in life do not necessarily bear the dollar sign. Nevertheless, he desires to have the financial success that spells the comforts of life. The most powerful lever in gaining financial success is the ownership of capital.

Life insurance with the Aid Association for Lutherans can be your first step toward financial success. It provides an immediate capital estate. It is a definite plan of accumulating capital. It is in itself failure proof.

Consult an A.A.L. field representative or write to the Home Office for further information.
